Chance To Approve Or Disapprove Rise In School Tax Rate

Arguments for and against a 70-cent increase in the maximum tax rate of the Carmel Unified School District must be submitted to Ed Coffin, Monterey County superintendent of schools, not later than February 7. An election to increase the maximum tax from $2.15 to $2.85 is set for March 29.

Allowed to submit arguments are authorized members of the board of education; bona fide associations of citizens; and individual voters. One argument for and one argument against the tax increase will be selected for printing and distribution to voters on election notices.

Last night, the school board named citizens appointed to a committee to present the override tax to voters of the district. They are Mrs. Don E. Harrison Jr., Mrs. Carl Menneken, George Yates, Mark Raggett, Mrs. Gregg King, Mrs. Howard McFann, Mrs. Hugo Martinez, Richard Wilsdon, Dr. Joseph S. Ward, Colonel Shelburn Robison and John Sigourney. They will meet for the first time tonight at Middle School. Dr. Hilton Bialek was appointed to be the liaison board member to meet with the committee.

Following recommendations from the citizens committee on finance, the board of education is requesting a 70-cent override tax in addition to an existing 50-cent override.

The present total tax rate for the Carmel district is $2.53 per $100 property evaluation. This total tax includes the existing 50-cent override.

Breakdown of the $2.53 rate is as follows: Maximum tax rate, $2.15 ($1.65 maximum base allowable plus 50-cent override); .052 cents for teachers' retirement; .013 cents for old age and disability insurance; 10 cents for community services; .077 cents for adult education; .112 cents for excess cost of educating seventh and eighth graders; .001 cents for Captain Cooper School loan repayment.

The March 29 ballot will ask voters to increase the maximum tax rate to $2.85 for the next five years. If the increased rate is approved, the approval will have the effect of extending the present 50-cent override two years beyond the time previously approved by the voters. If the higher tax rate is defeated, the 50-cent override will only continue to be in effect for three more years.

Assistant Superintendent Wayne Greenfield has just finished preparation of a preliminary budget for 1966-67. He predicts a probable drop next year in the adult education tax to .07 cents; a probable 3 to 5 cents drop for seventh and eighth grade education.

PHYSICIANS HERE FOR CONVENTION

Yesterday, meetings of the Western Association of Physicians started in Sunset Center auditorium and the Golden Bough Cinema. Attended by 800 physicians, the annual convention of the association will continue through Saturday. The physicians come to Carmel each year from all the western states to hear papers delivered by national authorities in various fields of medicine, also to attend seminars on aspects of the medical profession.

"Join Up—Join In" is the slogan for the 1966 fund drive of the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross. Discussing plans for the campaign in March are Carl Bosholm, left, chairman of the Carmel chapter, and Frederick S. Dohring, fund drive chairman. Goal of this year's drive is $28,796. —Dennis Rowedder Photo

Planners Hear Opposition To 'Pandora's Box' Parking Lot

Three requests for rezoning residential property for parking lot use were considered by the Carmel Planning Commission yesterday afternoon. One of these, requested by Donald W. Berry, received considerable opposition.

"Beware of this Pandora's Box," Robert E. Little warned commissioners. He stressed that granting off-site parking for the planned Berry shopping court, on two lots at the southwest corner of Dolores and Fifth, would lead to requests for similar variances to the city's new parking law "all over the business district."

Mr. Little maintained that when a developer was "starting from scratch" like Mr. Berry, he should be required to provide the on-site parking for employers and employees required under the law. If the proposed shopping complex were developed with less density this requirement could be met, he added.

Carvel Baldwin similarly opposed, as establishing a precedent, a variance to allow Mr. Berry to provide the required parking on a lot one-half block north on Dolores in the residence zone.

Henry R. Sladen also spoke against the variance and a communication opposing the parking lot, signed by 12 residential property owners in the area surrounding the proposed parking, was received.

Mr. Berry told the commission that provision of on-site parking would add to the already considerable traffic congestion on Dolores Street in the post office vicinity. August Nieto, leasing agent for the proposed complex, stated that the off-site parking lot would permit retention of trees on the shopping court site and a greater number of parking spaces, also relieve traffic congestion and allow more beautiful development of the land.

Chairman Dorothy von Meier set a special meeting for February 10, 7:30 p.m., for further consideration of the Berry parking lot.

A zone of interest extending 300 feet in all directions from the requested parking was set by the commission and property owners in this zone will be asked to approve or disapprove the proposal.

Also on February 10, the commission further will consider the request for a parking lot on the west side of Lincoln Street, in the residence zone, for Cypress West Hotel requested by H. R. Poffenberger. There was no opposition at the public hearing on this lot yesterday.

The third request for a parking lot in the residence zone came from the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross. A public hearing on rezoning to P-3 use one lot on the east side of Dolores below Eighth Avenue was set for the commission's study session on February 16.

MIKE MEHEEN NEW OFFICER OF YOUTH CENTER ADULT BOARD

When he was a student at Carmel High School, Mike Meheen was a member of the Carmel Youth Center. Now a practicing Carmel attorney, he joined the adult board of directors of the teenage recreation center when he took over the office of secretary-treasurer last night.

Robert H. Shirley is president of the adult board for the coming year. Bill Bartlett was re-elected vice president.

Mayor Blanks, Dr. Gilman Seek Seats On Council

The filing period for two vacancies on the city council opened today and will close on February 17. The election will be held on April 12.

The terms of two councilmen, Mayor Herbert Blanks and James C. Buffington Jr., expire in April.

Mayor Herbert Blanks informed the Pine Cone yesterday that he will seek re-election for a second four-year term. Mr. Buffington stated that he definitely will not seek a third term on the council.

School Board Hires Teachers, Approves Remedial Program

Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District, last night, approved the full-time employment of Anne Van Roehoudt as a teacher of Spanish at Carmel High School and full-time employment of another teacher to assist in the art, music and crafts programs at Middle School, also $800 to equip an extra art and crafts room.

Trustee Dr. Hilton Bialek moved that the clause permitting a principal to use corporal punishment be eliminated from the board's rules. His motion died for lack of a second.

The board approved a project, supported by $36,453 of federal funds administered by the state, which will improve the educational opportunities for deprived students. If approved by various agencies involved, this project will include River, Carmelo, Tularcitos and Middle public schools, also parochial Junipero Serra School at Carmel Mission and All Saints' Episcopal Day School in Carmel Valley. The Carmel district will administer the program which will provide some vocational assistance to high school students and a counselor and five remedial teachers for the needs of elementary school pupils. Approved, too, was a second project to provide $2,600 for books for the program.

The continuation class for drop-out students required, by law, to continue their high school education, will be moved from the high school to the west bungalow on the south end of Sunset Center site, the board decided last night.

Accepted was the annual audit of the district and payment of $1,790 for this service was presented to the accountant, Bertram L. Heckenlaible.

Principal Orville Rogers and members of the mathematics department at River School described the program in this subject at the intermediate school for board members.

Arts Commission 'Shack' Horrifies Carmel Planners

"If you want a shack, go ahead," Planning Commissioner John B. Martin yesterday afternoon told other commissioners in reference to approving a proposed shed on the Forest Theater stage to store valuable equipment. Martin maintained that no individual citizen would be allowed to build such structure. "Why should it be allowed on city property?" he queried.

This morning, Dr. James Gilman picked up nomination papers at city hall and returned them with the necessary signatures of registered voters to place him in the city council race.

Mayor Blanks served for seven years on the Carmel Planning Commission, and was chairman of this appointive municipal body before seeking election to the council four years ago. He was chosen to be mayor by fellow councilmen two years ago.

Mr. Buffington first was elected to the council 12 years ago. After one four-year term he did not seek re-election until four years ago. He is presently the city's police commissioner.

A podiatrist, Dr. Gilman has lived in Carmel for 11 years. He is a member of the Sunset Commission and served on the Sunset Committee.

Remaining councilmen whose terms extend for another two years are Eben Whittlesey, Stephen Grant and Gunnar Norberg.

Town Meeting On Community Future

The Carmel Citizens Committee invites everyone interested in what the Carmel community is now and will be in the future to attend the annual Town Meeting in the parish hall of All Saints' Episcopal Church on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

"The Role of the Citizen in Local Government" will be the subject of an address by Mayor Herbert Blanks, it is announced by Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the committee.

"Where are we going, where do we want to go?" "How should the 'Sunset' property be used to best advantage?" What about motels, street lighting, parking? Are the interests of the residential community considered. These are subjects for discussion.

ARTS COMMISSION OPENS YOUNG PEOPLE'S ART MUSEUM IN SUNSET CENTER

Townpeople are invited by the Carmel Arts Commission to the opening of the city-owned Young People's Art Museum in Sunset Center from 5:30-7 p.m. today.

On exhibition will be the work of students in art classes at Carmel High School. This show will remain on display for three weeks. The following exhibition will show the art work of Peninsula students selected to take part in the Lyceum program. An exchange exhibition of art by students in a Mississippi school also is planned.

'Springtime For Henry' Provides Fun And Frolic At Studio Theatre

BY DOROTHY REED

"Springtime for Henry," the reliable British farce that used to hit the boards of summer stock as regularly as the vernal season, opened last weekend at the Studio Theatre. Set in 1924, the production is gloriously costumed with the flat fronts, tapered hemlines and peek-a-boo knees of that period.

Its casting is a little reminiscent of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "HMS Pinafore," where the heroine discovers that her father and her lover had been mixed up in the cradle, and the former toddles off to marry his old nurse. In the local "Springtime for Henry," biological father and son, the Nick LeFeuvres, Jr. and Sr., pretend to be contemporaries—old school buddies—while Barbara Krumholz, playing the wife of old Nick, looks young enough to be his granddaughter. Perhaps it is this age discrepancy that makes him so willing to share her favors with his old friend—but in that case what can he be thinking of in romancing another lady almost as young?

The delightful thing about farce, of course, is that the characters are incredible on purpose, and these are so indeed. LeFeuvre, Jr. plays Henry Dewlip, a wealthy London man-about-town who is seized by an unwonted spell of clean living. His delineation of Henry the rake and Henry the reformed is not quite so clear-cut as one might have wished, but his good humor is very winning and his bad humor very funny.

His secretary, the sanctimonious Miss Smith with the lurid past, who brings about the change in his life, is skillfully portrayed by Layne Littlepage. Her make-up seems a little garish for a girl with such abstemious tastes (she is an ardent believer in "the decent thing") but her even-toned delivery of her perfectly wild lines is just right.

LeFeuvre, Sr. takes the part of Henry's old friend and business associate, John Jelliwell, and is most amusing and convincing in the scene where he upbraids Henry for discarding Mrs. Jelliwell. The latter, Miss Krumholz, is a little like a wind-up doll in her movements and speech, but she is absolutely delightful to look at.

The story, which recounts the stages of Henry's moral uplifting and their effect on his family, friends and business, has a surprise ending that is highly satisfying. It takes place in Henry's London flat complete with 1924 Victrola. The set is by Ruth Jordan Allen and very effective. The costumes by Barbara Kawamoto are a triumph. And dinner at the Studio, with coffee to sip during the production, is a thoroughly pleasant part of the evening.

"Springtime for Henry" plays at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 p.m. Dinner is served from 6:30-7:30 o'clock.

Children's Play At White Oaks Theatre

A strange group of fairy tale characters become involved in the search for a treasure chest in White Oaks Theatre's production of "The Wonderment of Gleep," written for children by the theatre's artistic director Gale Peterson and presented Sunday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock.

Members of the White Oaks Fantasy Players have been working under the direction of Shirley Eoff. Filling a varied mixture of characterizations are Linda Boblitt, Ron Mitchell, Rick Morse, Mary Pattie, Dale Morse and Paul Wagner.

Gale Peterson himself takes on the two-sided character of Gleep. Artistic work on sets was designed by Mr. Peterson and executed by Jim Stewart, a student at San Francisco State College.

A significant reduction in student rates, from $2.75 to $2.00, has been announced by White Oaks Theatre for its run of John Dos Passos' "U.S.A.," a revue-with-music of the World War I years.

The play will be performed Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 p.m. through February 19 at the theatre located on Carmel Valley Road just before the Village.

Purpose of the society is to provide California with a group specifically concerned with the conservation of native plants.

Dr. Ledyard Stebbins, professor of genetics at the University of California at Davis, told some 50 persons at the first meeting of the local chapter that the Monterey Peninsula is one of the richest areas in the state for rare native plants and much needs to be done to preserve such growth in the midst of population expansion. Other speakers were Dr. Watson Laetsch of the botany department of the University of California at Berkeley and Mrs. Mary Wollers, executive secretary of the society.

Any interested person is invited to attend next week's meeting.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

School Principals To Learn More About Volunteer Programs

Principals of schools in the Carmel Unified School District, Mrs. Anna Kohner and Orville Rogers, will attend a conference at College of Marin in Kentfield on Saturday dealing with the use of volunteer aides for teachers.

Titled "The School, the Teacher and the Volunteer," the conference is being sponsored by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, Inc. and will have as keynote speaker Dr. John Niemeyer, president of Bank St. College in New York City.

Aim of the conference is to exchange ideas on kinds of volunteers needed and used in the Marin County schools, also to demonstrate the growing interest in the volunteer program in Marin, the San Francisco Bay area and across the nation. Areas to be covered include organization and administration, recruitment and retention, orientation and supervision, and coordination of volunteer programs.

Mrs. Kohner at Woods and Carmelo schools and Mr. Rogers at Middle School are using volunteers to help teachers and wish to discover more ideas for volunteer programs on Saturday.

"Hooked" On Hawaii

Walt and Lois Pilot, who stayed a month instead of the intended two weeks in the Hawaiian Islands, returned wildly enthusiastic over everything they saw and did as well as the people they met. They visited the four big islands and, shunning the tourist route, drove about the countryside talking with farmers and fisherman. Everywhere they went they were impressed with the beauty of the land and the generosity and friendliness of the local citizens.

Even Honolulu is beautiful, says Lois. "Of course it's commercial, but so is Carmel." Creeping commercialism, though evident, does not seem to have ruined the people's talent for enjoying a casual, informal way of life, she feels.

Back To The Farm

"Cappy" Carmel Martin Jr. and his wife, Molly, have occasion to ponder life's ironies since moving from Monterey to the home they bought a month ago in the Mission Tract near the lagoon. Their present residence is located on land which was once a part of John Martin's Mission Ranch, where, of course, Cappy's father, Carmel Martin, was born.

The Martins' children, who seem happily transplanted to the new neighborhood, are Maren, a student at Santa Catalina, Chris, who attends Bishop Kip School, and Julie, aged four.

Snake In The Parlor

The sea breezes of Manzanillo, Mexico, blow through window openings uncluttered by screens or glass, keeping insects out but often allowing odd bits of fauna in, as Nancy (Mrs. Charles R.) Strathmeyer discovered. When she entered the home of her hosts in the tropical port, she was more than a little startled to see a good-sized boa constrictor lying on the buffet, contentedly digesting her friends' parakeet. Other than wondering what might appear next—and a few scary tales of chloroform-wielding robbers—she slept well during her two weeks' trip south of the border.

With relatives from the East, Mrs. Strathmeyer drove to Guadalajara for a brief stay before traveling through Colima to the Pacific Coast. She flew home this week, but not before having had a chance to land a dolphin while deep-sea fishing off Manzanillo.

Spain Was Cold

Glowing advertisements of "Sunny Spain" should be taken with a grain of salt, according to Mrs. Audrey Marten Tetley, who spent one out of three months of European travel in that country. Making headquarters in Barcelona or Madrid, she took numerous trips to other areas and particularly enjoyed a tour through Andalusia. The magnificence of the cathedrals and museums, Mrs. Tetley found, helps one forget the frigid air circulating through them.

Sharon Predmore of Carmel Valley accompanied Mrs. Tetley during part of the journey, traveling with her to England and from there to Rome, via Belgium, Germany and Austria. Sharon, also, visited Spain but chose to

Hazel Jacoby Scored

Carmel High School senior Hazel Jacoby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Jacoby of Carmel, received an honorable mention award in the annual mathematics contest at the University of Santa Clara. More than 650 students from 85 Northern California high schools took the three-hour examination consisting of non-routine problems that demand ingenuity and originality.

U.S.C. Topic For Girls' Tea

All girls in senior classes at Monterey Peninsula high schools who may be interested in attending the University of Southern California are invited to a tea at the home of Mrs. Robert O. McMahan in Pebble Beach on Wednesday. Miss Marsha McMahan and other U.S.C. students will assist as hostesses. Senior girls wishing more information may call Mrs. McMahan.

Campbell during the sporting event. Bill, of course, also visited his father, Herbert Heron, and Mrs. Heron.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony August invited Mr. and Mrs. George Manatos of Modesto to share their home for the Crosby.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Halford of Atherton enjoyed the hospitality of the Bill Godwins, who entertained at a cocktail party Saturday evening for a few friends before going on to the Beach Club for dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Lusignan were hosts for a large group at a luncheon on Sunday at their Pebble Beach home, where many "new faces" and Hollywood luminaries enjoyed a bounteous buffet. Eleanor Lusignan, incidentally, was delightfully surprised to find that Moura Lympany, the British pianist who was presented in recital here last week, is a dear friend of the only couple Mrs. Lusignan knows in London.

Here from Fresno to watch the competition on the fairways were Mr. and Mrs. William Snell and Mr. and Mrs. William Spaulding, who were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. McMahan of Pebble Beach. Current visitors at the McMahans are Mrs. McMahan's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boswell of Rochester, Indiana.

The George McMahan of Carmel Valley had visitors from Fresno, too, the Oliver Jamiesons and the Brenton Bradfords, in whose honor they gave a dinner party, inviting also the Robert McMahan and their houseguests.

After the first day's play, Mr.

and Mrs. Don W. Berry served a buffet supper, featuring whole roast boar, at their Pebble Beach home, where "visiting firemen" mingled with the Berry's local friends.

DR. SWIGART SPEAKER AT ALL SAINTS' SUNDAY

Dr. Margaret Swigart of Pacific Grove, Peninsula "Woman of The Year" and a trustee of Monterey Peninsula College, will be guest speaker in All Saints' Church on Sunday for the adult study and discussion group in the Parish Hall at 10:00 a.m. Dr. Swigart has recently returned from a round-the-world trip during which she spent a week in Rhodesia, Africa. As a guest of Bishop Skeleton of Matebetland, she was able to see and discuss matters of Christian concern in that troubled country. Her talk at All Saints' will be illustrated with slides taken during her trip.

The morning services in Carmel's Episcopal church include The Holy Communion at 8 and 9 a.m. and Morning Prayer at 11:00 a.m. At the latter service the new assistant priest in the parish, the Reverend Lloyd Johnson, will preach his first sermon on theological education.

Rene's Blasius Engaged

Major Frank M. Blasius (USA ret.) and Mrs. Blasius of South Carmel Hills have announced the engagement of their daughter, Janet Renee to Lynn William Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith of Carmel Valley.

The announcement was made at the Smith residence during a welcome-home family dinner for their son, who has just returned from Da Nang, Viet Nam, where he was serving in the Sea Bees, U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion.

Renee, a graduate of Carmel High School, is a student at Monterey Peninsula College, where she is a dental assistant major. She is the sister of Dennis Blasius of Pacific Grove and the half-sister of Donald Blasius of Las Vegas, Nevada, and Jay Blasius of Downey. Her grandmother is Mrs. Archie C. Hall of Carmel, a former resident of Glenview, Illinois.

Lynn, also a Carmel High School graduate, has completed his Naval service and will enter Monterey Peninsula College the coming semester. He has three sisters, Mrs. Victor Haskin and Mrs. Stanley Howes of Watsonville and Mrs. Emmett McPherson of Santa Clara.

The young couple have not yet set a date for their wedding.

Honors For Local Dogs

Two Hungarian Vizslas, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Art Carpenter of Rancho Rio Vista, took top honors for their breed at the Golden Gate Kennel Club's 56th Annual All Breed Dog Show in San Francisco on January 15 and 16.

Champion Sandor v. Debretsin, eight and a half year old male vizsla, handled by Frank Housley of Monterey, won top spot with best of breed. Following close behind with best of breed of opposite sex was his daughter, Champion Besa v. Debretsin, C.D., owned by Mrs. Robert O'Brien of Monterey and handled by Miss Kathy O'Brien, was next with best

The Carpenters' 12-year-old son Gary, a student at Carmel Middle School, handled Sandor and Besa in the brace class and went on to represent the sporting brace in the final judging for best brace in show. Miss Chris O'Brien entered best-of-winners Boske in the junior handling competition, winning the title of Best Junior Showman over 80 other children.

During the two days of benching, the Carpenters' and O'Briens' vizslas received a great deal of attention from the spectators, also the display of colored hunting pictures showing the dogs in action in the field.

Enjoyed Sydney Sojourn

Mrs. William Gargiulo found the Australians whom she met in Sydney charming, hospitable and "generally approving of America and Americans," a reaction opposite to that which she often encountered in European travels. Sydney harbor is magnificent, according to Mrs. Gargiulo, who adds that she was most impressed with the imaginative architecture of the new opera house which is being built in the city.

Arriving just before Christmas to spend the holidays with the family of her son, Bill, Mrs. Gargiulo found herself in the midst of a busy social season, which made her stay all the more enjoyable. En route to Australia, she flew to the Islands for a few days at Kona Plantation and in Honolulu, also stopped at Fiji.

Rodney Allison To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emmet Rogers of Borrego Springs have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Rodney Ransome Allison of Carmel.

Miss Rogers, who is employed with the Pacific Telephone Company in Monterey, attended schools in Julian, California, and is a graduate of Monterey Peninsula College. She has one brother, Joseph Rogers of Monterey.

The son of Mrs. Sue I. Ransome of Carmel, Rodney graduated from Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College. He studied at the Pasadena Playhouse and has been active in little theatre work here.

The couple will be married on February 26 in the Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament at Carmel Mission and will make their home in Carmel.

Dentists Convene

Three local members of the dental profession are among alumni of the School of Dentistry, College of Physicians and Surgeons, University of the Pacific, who plan to attend the annual meeting tomorrow and Saturday in San Francisco. They are Dr. Pauline S. Eckman, Dr. Ralph W. Jackson and Dr. Edward P. Marcucci.

The program of the convention will include a trip to the site of the school's new $8,500,000 building, now in construction, adjacent to the Presbyterian Medical Center.

She Won The Race

Two weeks ago today, Mrs. Leo Tanous was racing the stork to Ann Arbor, Michigan, determined to reach the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kiley, before the feathered visitor. She did, but barely—her new grandson, Christopher Aubrey, arrived the next day, weighing in at seven pounds, 15 ounces. He is, of course, a perfectly beautiful baby.

Christopher was christened on January 17 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor.

Welcomed home Sunday evening by her husband, Mrs. Tanous said that heavy snow had begun to fall before she left Ann Arbor and that the country was a real "winter wonderland."

At Hospital Conference

Thomas E. Tonkin of Carmel, administrator of Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, is attending a policy-making conference of the American Hospital Association in Chicago.

He is a member of AHA's top-level, seven-man committee on hospital design and construction.

Purpose of the conference is to help formulate AHA's position on such matters as federal aid for hospital construction and medical care.

Mr. Tonkin flew east Sunday and expects to return today.

Dinner For Concert Goers

Between 50 and 60 Northern California "alumni" of the Perry-Mansfield School of the Theatre and Camps will gather at Cabrillo College in Aptos on February 9 for a reunion dinner in conjunction with a concert being given there by the Ririe-Woodbury Dance Company. Since 32 people in this vicinity attended the school in Steamboat Springs last summer, a large group from Carmel plans to travel to Aptos for the event.

Shirley Ririe, who has taught at the Perry-Mansfield Dance Seminar for the past four summers, will also give a master class before the concert. The Ririe-Woodbury Company, a troupe of eight professional dancers, originated at the University of Utah and are touring in Northern California for the first time.

A special dining area has been reserved for the Perry-Mansfield reunion, and a block of seats will be reserved together for those who register in advance for the concert. Reservations must be received before February 4, and further information may be obtained by phoning Miss Portia Mansfield in Carmel.

Reminiscing Was Fun

"Ol' China Hands," consisting of people who knew the pre-World War II Orient, celebrated their tenth annual get-together last week with a series of social events in no way overshadowed by the Crosby tournament. A contingent from San Francisco joined Peninsula members of the "organization" in Carmel to renew old acquaintances and exchange nostalgic reminiscences.

Starting off the festivities, A. Bland Calder, former U.S. commercial attache in China, and Mrs. Calder entertained at their home on Thursday evening. On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Erbe gave a cocktail party particularly for out-of-town visitors (Mrs. Erbe's father was manager for the Far East for Standard Oil in pre-Communist China, and Mrs. Erbe has also lived in Japan and the Philippines).

Lewis Clark, former U.S. Minister to China, and Mrs. Clark opened their lovely Country Club home for an open house, to which were invited not only the "in group" but tournament participants and other local friends.

Saturday morning, 30 genuine expert wielders of chopsticks met at the Pine Inn for breakfast and that evening the San Francisco group played host at a cocktail party at its headquarters.

The climax of the four-day reunion came Sunday evening, when some 60 people met for a Polynesian dinner at The Outrigger.

Moura Lympany Served A Weak Cup Of Tea To Carmel Music Society

BY JACK BENSON

Moura Lympany, an English pianist highly touted on both sides of the Atlantic, gave a recital in Carmel last week. Described by her management as a "British virtuoso (who) is recognized as one of the greatest pianists of our time," Miss Lympany was the first British artist to play in Paris after its liberation. Along with her participation in numerous cultural missions, TV appearances, and European concert tours, Miss Lympany is further described as somewhat of a linguist, an avid reader, an expert antique collector, a celebrated hostess, and a fine amateur chef.

One would hope that Moura Lympany lends more distinction to these latter talents than she gave to the music in her recital here; that her dinner courses, for instance, are planned and executed with more discrimination than her Mozart, Schumann, or Chopin. And these three composers, by the way, comprised the sum total of Miss Lympany's program. "Soup to nuts" programming is not always desirable, certainly, but this English lady's tea party left us yawning and unfulfilled.

First of all, the tea was weak, if we may be permitted to give Mozart this warm and vitally essential spot in the proceedings. He was peremptorily poured. The "morceaux de Chopin" served later melted in one's mouth, to be sure, but were rendered with flavorless insouciance. The centerpiece was the only substantial fare set forth by Moura Lympany on this occasion. It was Schumann's Fantasia in C Major and it was laid down with grandiose style.

This could hardly be considered a recital program, however. One may dismiss two centuries of keyboard music previous to Mozart and another century following Schumann, if one wishes, and settle exclusively for the elaborate decor of our most romantic era. But elaborate it must be, both richly poised and graceful in composition. Such was not the case. As one member of the audience in Sunset auditorium remarked that evening: "Goodness! The program is short enough. What's her hurry."

As it turned out, Miss Lympany was not in any hurry after all, for we joined in conversation at a reception in her honor following the concert. Her week-a-day attitude toward a career in music was, in a sense, reaffirmed when she mentioned some advice her teacher had given her, which was never to worry about how a recital had gone once one was paid. And, so goes the music biz.

and they read as if the end result would be delicious. The only thing worrisome about the recipes is the blithe estimate at the end of each one—"serves 5-6 persons." These servings must be small. Caution might cause the cook to decide to serve 3-4 persons and advance to higher numbers as experience might dictate.

If you could tour the world with some of the best minds of our time, where would you go and with whom? When told that we could travel with people of brilliant mind most of us would simply lie down and die, the thought of all that taxing conversation being too much for us. The way to do it with real enjoyment is by reading "THE WHOLE WIDE WORLD" edited by William Clifford but actually written by a host of talented writers. This huge book is illustrated with beautiful photographs of places all over the world with the text taken from many books by many different authors. Since you are a confirmed traveler, some of your favorite places may have been omitted, but give a look at the places Mr. Clifford included here, and enjoy yourself to your fullest capability.

If you can stand a question and answer book, and like to fish, the next book will be for you. It is by Anthony Bristowe and is called "FRESH WATER FISHING." The entire book is taken up with questions about fishing and answers by the man who wrote the book. It has what seems to be a good index, which should be heaven-sent for the reader who hates to bumble through entire books in order to learn something about lures, or Kamloops trout, or the Goldenrod grub.

"A WALK IN THE SPRING RAIN" is a short love story by Rachel Maddux. It is a strangely earthy, strangely innocent story of one year spent on a farm and the middle-aged couple who stayed there while the husband wrote a book. Reading it will give you a lovely evening. . . . If you are a woman. This is a book for ladies.

Teachers' Institute Of Episcopal Diocese Starts Tonight Here

Faculty members, administrators, board members and families of students attending the 21 nursery, elementary and secondary schools of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of California arrived today for a Teachers' Institute at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Tonight, following a dinner, the Reverend David Hill, All Saints' rector, will greet participants.

Keynote speaker of the evening will be Dr. Lucie Lawson of the faculty of the University of California and director of speech therapy and remedial reading service at San Francisco's Franklin Hospital. She will speak on "Within the Classroom Scene: Goals and Antecedents in Learning." An open house tour of All Saints' Parish Day School in Carmel Valley will conclude the evening.

Tomorrow, Professor Harry Wong of Menlo-Atherton High School, will address a "subject matter session" on science. Professor Wong was the 1963 winner of Yale University's Award for Outstanding High School Teacher of the nation, and also won the California Teacher Award for the same year. He has served as consultant on both state and national curriculum framework committees.

The foreign language presentation at the session will be made by Dr. Ruth Howard, head of the department of foreign languages at Lowell High School, San Francisco and member of the State of California Curriculum Committee. Sessions will close with choral music by the Children's Choir of All Saints' Church, directed by Robert Forbes.

Carmel's Tree Care Lauded In Magazine

Special tribute is paid to Carmel's preservation of trees in the current issue of Country Beautiful, a national magazine. In an article titled "Trees," August Derleth, one of this country's best known regional writers, and author of over 100 published books says,

"In contrast to the cavalier attitude still prevailing in so many towns and villages where trees are concerned, there are such villages as Carmel, California, and many small towns in New England—which are certainly among the most attractive in the nation—where sidewalks and roads are built around trees, where trees are given as much care and considera-

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation," says Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, in her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." The passage will be included in all Christian Science services this Sunday as part of the lesson on "Love."

Several Bible stories will be read, among them the conversion of Cornelius and the parable of the Good Samaritan. A correlative reading from Science and Health includes these words: "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is the man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

Peter's statement—"Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him"—finds a parallel in this line from Science and Health: "Love is impartial and universal in its adaptation and bestowals."

Progress Reports On Curriculum Recommendations From Citizens

Progress has been made, during the first semester of the 1965-66 academic year, to implement recommendations made last Spring by the Citizens Committee on Curriculum in English, history and social sciences, mathematics, science and foreign language programs in the Carmel Unified School District, the board of education learned last week.

However, proposed lightening of teaching loads, also the employment of additional teachers and clerical assistants, has not been accomplished.

Articulation of instruction, both vertically and horizontally, has improved but, as yet, does not meet the hopeful requirements proposed by the citizens committee.

ENGLISH

Reporting on the English program, High School Principal Warren Edwards said it is "in good shape" and praised the summer workshop for teachers in this subject which provided "an exciting and successful start" for the current year.

He also lauded the committee of English teachers, representing various schools in the district, who have helped establish better understanding between instructors at all levels of the district's K-12 program.

About to be undertaken is an articulated district wide English project on the metaphor using color as the means of expression. Reports on this instructional unit will be made describing a multiplicity of individual teaching methods and results.

Mr. Edwards cited the publication of the high school newspaper, The Sandpiper, as an important citizens committee proposal which had been implemented.

HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

In Grades 1-6 history and social sciences teaching has been aided by new textbooks William Mallek, principal of Tularecito School, reported. He made a plea for a summer workshop for teachers in these subjects, added assistance for teachers, improvement in school libraries, teaching aids such as film strips and more funds to meet articulation objectives of the citizens committee.

Reporting on the same two subjects for Grades 7 and 8, Fred Upham of Middle School said not enough articulation was achieved between teachers of these grades. He urged the building up of a reference file, lightening teacher loads, elimination of instructional overlapping, more work with large groups and a faculty room. Such provisions would help bring instruction more into line with the citizens committee reports.

Peter Lyon told the board about the history and social sciences programs at Carmel High School. Implementation of citizens committee proposals was hindered by material for slow students not being available and a course for advanced students not having been written. Scheduling has hampered team teaching. Teachers do not have enough free time. A jumbled three-track course outline, a need for more supplementary texts, also a permanent committee to select textbooks and more clerical help, were other reasons for not attaining citizens committee objectives given by Mr. Lyon. He stressed the inadequacy of the high school library in the fields of history and social sciences as another drawback.

MATHEMATICS

Middle School Principal Orville Rogers reported to the board on the district's mathematics program. Recommendations of the citizens committee had been concurred with in respect to more team and group instruction at Middle School. This type of instruction is being approached at Tularecito. A variety of supplementary textbooks has been provided; material for teachers placed in libraries and more is being bought. Mathematics is being correlated with science instruction and high school students are being encouraged to "go as far as they can."

He recommended a course in modern mathematics for teachers next year, also another consultant workshop. Bibliographies of mathematics books have not, as yet, been sent to parents but plans to do so are being made.

SCIENCE

Dan Yurkovich, assistant to Superintendent Medill Bair, told the board of progress made in science instruction. In accordance with the citizens committee report, work specifications and textbooks have been distributed to teachers in the various schools to provide a continued elementary level program. Teachers working together and the summer science workshop aided this objective, too. An effort is being made to establish science laboratories and the mathematics and science programs are more closely correlated. Groups getting together, to some extent, has further aided articulation. The committee for this part of the curriculum is "verbal and eager with strong opinions," he added.

Citizens committee recommendations not carried out are obtaining a scientist-in-residence and the teaching of science to all pupils.

In the latter respect, an additional instructor with a major in chemistry is needed at the high school. Lack of money also is impeding the proposed science program, he said, and emphasized that extending science instruction to all students is hindered by reading inability, inadequate sinks in the biology laboratory and proper provision for chemistry and physics instruction.

The articulation problem, Mr. Yurkovich stated, will be helped by State adoption of new textbooks next year. The number of students taking science on the secondary level is increasing and leadership is emerging among elementary instructors.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

"We feel we have made great strides," Henry Chapple declared when informing the board on the district's foreign language program. Close coordination of the total program exists. Instruction is constantly being evaluated. All teachers have visited the foreign country whose language they are teaching. More supplemental aids are now available and all schools have electronic language laboratory equipment. Students are maintaining a satisfactory level of competency and their demands for instruction are being met. Books and magazines to supplement instruction are constantly being increased and a fine paperback library is provided at the high school.

Heavy class loads and need for additional instructional supplies still exist. The foreign language instruction in the district "is very fine but we want it to be excellent," Mr. Chapple concluded.

Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, head of Middle School foreign language department, stated that for the first time a sequential foreign language program exists in the Carmel district. Fifth and sixth graders were "a joy to teach," she said. The lower the grade level at which foreign languages are taught, the better is the total program, she added.

Donald Craig, high school instructor in Spanish, informed the board that articulation and coordination is not a severe problem in the foreign language instruction. Experience in this field is being passed down from the top level to achieve better results.

"After listening to the reports tonight, we can see that the citizens committee reports have not been filed and ignored but have had a healthy influence leading to evaluation and improvement in the curriculum," Board Chairman Dr. Robert Newton remarked at the end of reports given last week.

Emily Lenhart

Private family services for Mrs. Emily Lenhart, 92, who died January 20 in a local nursing home after a long period of failing health, were held Friday at the Paul Funeral Chapel, with Dr. George Hunter Hall of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating.

A naturalized citizen of the United States, Mrs. Lenhart was born in Bremerhaven, Germany, May 10, 1873, and was a Carmel resident since 1951.

She leaves a son, Lewis F. Lenhart of Carmel and a granddaughter, Mrs. Diane Cruttenden of Los Angeles. Her husband, the late John Albert Lenhart, died in 1958.

Private interment took place in El Carmelo Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Symphony Association Announces County-Wide Photography Contest

A county-wide contest, open to amateur photographers, is announced by Robert Stanton, vice president of the Monterey County Symphony Association. Winners' photographs will be used for symphony programs, brochures and general publicity and will, in all cases, carry the photographer's credit line.

Al Weber, instructor in photography at Monterey Peninsula College, will act as contest director and consultant. Judges will be widely known professional photographers Steve Crouch of Carmel, George Seidenbeck of Carmel Valley and Wynn Bullock of Monterey.

Because photographs submitted must in some manner depict the orchestra's activities, contestants are invited to attend an orchestra dress rehearsal in Sunset Center auditorium on February 6 at 3 p.m. They will see and hear the orchestra in action and be allotted time to take pictures from their requested angles.

All photographs submitted will become the property of the Monterey County Symphony Association. The deadline for contestants is February 16. All photographs must be received at symphony headquarters in Sunset Center, either delivered or by mailing to P.O. Box 3851, Carmel. Printed contest rules may be obtained in the same manner.

Prizes will be: first prize: $25.00; second prize: $15.00; third prize: $10.00.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

On Saturday afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock, Corinne and Jim Smith, owners of Thunderbird Book Shop, will give another of their lively autograph parties. Their location in Carmel Valley, a remodeled house, is rimmed with views of the surrounding mountains and contains 30,000 books for sale. It is the only bookstore between two garden nurseries, also the last one still baking and selling cheesecake, as well as the largest between Los Laureles Grade and Greenfield, Jim Smith told us with his cheerful grin.

This Saturday's autograph party will honor Miss Beatrice F. Howitt well known botanist. "Wildflowers of The Monterey Area" is the book of the hour and Miss Howitt was certainly highly qualified to write this attractive and accurate account of our local wildflowers. With both a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of California, Bea had a position for several years with the Hastings Natural History Reservation of the University of California, 15 miles east of Carmel Valley Village. She was president of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society last year.

On Saturday, Corinne Smith, a gourmet cook, will serve her famous Shrimp Dip with Jim's favorite Thunderbird Punch. We will give you Corinne's recipe for the dip, but Jim's punch remains a secret. (It's never the same twice!)

CORINNE'S SHRIMP DIP

(Enough for 12 people)

Two 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese; dry sherry; 2 small onions, chopped fine; 1 tsp. salt; 1 can small cocktail shrimp.

Mash cheese with dry sherry until of desired consistency for dip. Add onions and salt. Mix well. Stir in cocktail shrimp (without breaking up) which have been rinsed in cold water and drained. Serve with crackers and spreaders or chips.

Sunday morning is the only time the Smiths have the leisure to entertain at home. They live in a contemporary post adobe house all on one floor overlooking Carmel River. It has floor-to-ceiling glass so that the vistas are indeed dramatic. Here is Corinne's special brunch menu:

CARMEL RIVER BRUNCH

CHICK ADAMICK'S

RAMOS FIZZ

1½ oz. gin; good dash fresh lemon juice; 1 bar spoon sugar; dash orange flower water; white of 1 egg; 3 oz. half-and-half cream. Whirl in electric blender with a few ice cubes. Strain and top drink with grated nutmeg.

The Bacon Crown Jewels are made from crisp broiled best sweet hickory-smoked bacon. While still hot, curl each broiled bacon slice quickly around a silver fork tine. Remove fork carefully and insert a small pimiento-stuffed green olive. Spear with cocktail pick. The cellophane-ruffled picks are gay and colorful.

If huge fresh strawberries with long stems are not in season, spear canned pineapple chunks and serve instead.

BAKED EGGS, MEXICAN STYLE

Butter au gratin dishes, one for each serving. Put 2 tbsps. green chile canned salsa into bottom of each. Break 2 eggs into each dish. Spoon more salsa over top. Sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese, garnish with 3 tostadas per serving. Bake in 350 F. oven for 10 minutes. Serve at once on dinner plates containing browned little pig sausages.

BLUEBERRY COFFEE CAKE

(Makes one 9-inch cake)

1½ cups all purpose flour; ½ tsp. salt; 2 tbsps. baking powder; ¼ cup soft butter; 1/3 cup sugar; 1 egg; 2/3 cup milk; 1 pkg. frozen blueberries.

Cream butter and sugar. Add egg, then milk and beat. Add sifted dry ingredients, beating only enough to mix through. Fold in 1 pkg. frozen blueberries which have been placed in a colander and rinsed and drained briefly to remove crystals. Spread in 9 in. pan, round or square, and top with the following:

4 tbsps. flour; 4 tbsps. butter; ¼ cup brown sugar; 1 tsp. powdered cinnamon. Blend as for pastry. Bake in pre-heated 375 F. oven for 20-30 minutes. Make several batches. They go fast.

If you do not own a double oven (as Corinne and Julia Child do) bake your coffee cake first and keep warm on top of oven, then cook your eggs at last moment.

Among the many fine cookbooks on the Thunderbird shelves (there is also a Pebble Beach Thunderbird) are four collected and compiled by Carmelites.

shells and "beard." Put cleaned mussels in saucepan with salt, pepper and Tabasco to taste. Add 3 tbsps. white wine. Simmer 5 min. Add melted butter, mushrooms, lemon juice, milk, grated nutmeg and wine. Cook until it thickens, then add rice. Keep hot in chafing dish. If canned mussels are used, drain and proceed as above.

CAPPUCCINO

To make a delightful coffee drink, try cappuccino, whose nutmeg color is reminiscent of the robes of Capuchin monks. Pour equal parts caffe espresso and very hot milk simultaneously into breakfast-sized cups. Muddle with a cinnamon stick and top with freshly grated nutmeg. This may also be done with hot cocoa. Use skim milk if preferred.

From the Valley Fare Cookbook (published by The Chapel Guild of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel) here are Helen Wood's popovers. Super for brunch.

POPOVERS

(Makes 8-10)

2 eggs; 1 cup flour; ½ tsp. salt; 1 cup milk; 1 tbsp. melted butter. Pour into hot muffin rings, filling 1/3 full. Bake in 450 F. oven 20 min. Reduce heat to 350 F. for last 20 min.

From Louise G. Grigsby's "Soups On!" is this brunch-starter.

CHICKEN BOUILLON WITH AVOCADO

(Serves 4)

1 can chicken broth; 1 can water; ¼ can clam juice; dry sherry and salt to taste; 1 cubed avocado; whipped cream; parsley; paprika.

Combine chicken broth, water and clam juice. Heat until piping. Peel and cube avocado. Divide between 4 bouillon cups. Just before serving, add sherry (and salt if necessary) to broth. Pour steaming broth over avocado. Top each with whipped cream and sprinkle with paprika and minced parsley if desired.

Carmel Whales Gonzales With Record 103 Points

BY CHRIS LAIOLO, RUSTY VANDERVORT AND MARK CZIRBAN
The Carmel High Padres set a new school scoring record by beating the Gonzales High Spartans 103-60. This beat the old record of 87 points set by the 1964 Padres when Don "Blankety-Blank" Blanks put in the last two tallies.

The junior varsity lost a heartbreaker to the "Spartanettes" 54-52. It was close the whole game, with the halftime score at 28-27 for Gonzales. Hernandez took the game high point honors for Gonzales with 20. Mark Johnston had 13, Rich Oleson 12, for Carmel.

The Lightweights took their first league victory of the season by beating the Gonzales Lightweights 62-38. They led at halftime 25-14 and then racked up 24 points in the third quarter to push their lead to 49-25. Jack Ellwood Graham, a member of the Carmel Art Association, won the "best of show" award in the third annual Religious Art Show sponsored by the Catholic Chapel Guild of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. His painting, "Queen of Peace," was selected by Ninfa Valvo, former curator of paintings at the M. H. deYoung Museum in San Francisco, and William Estler, Palo Alto collector and art patron.

Other awards in the professional division went to William Rabinovitch of Pacific Grove, C. L. Pahl of Pomona and Irene Love of Big Sur.

In the sculpture division, the award winner was Edmund Kara of Big Sur. Sister Monica Julie of Belmont won the graphics award.

In the amateur division Elizabeth Pennel of Monterey won first place. Second place went to Sister Marie Angelica of Carmel; third to Elizabeth C. Kolb of Seaside.

A special commendation ribbon was awarded to T. O. Edwards of Carmel. Those who received honorable mentions were Emilio of San Jose, Helen Sedletzky of Carmel. A special award was given to Mike Andersen of Monterey.

The show will be open to the public through January 30. It is exhibited in the main ballroom in Herrmann Hall from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

John Boit Morse was in Los Angeles last week for the opening of a one-man show of his work at the Feingarten Gallery.

Kurt von Meier, assistant professor and associate director of the art galleries at the University of California, Los Angeles, reviewed the exhibition, Art Treasures From Japan, for last month's Artforum magazine. Kurt, the son of Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, received his doctorate degree in the history of art at Princeton University.

The show of Japanese art treasures is currently on a tour of the United States. The first exhibition, which is reviewed in Artforum, was displayed at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

We at Carmel Convalescent Hospital feel we must take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to the entire community of Carmel for its generosity during the Christmas season.

Many individuals and organizations, the Kiwanis, Catholic Doctors Group, Salvation Army, and Boy and Girl Scout troops, to name just a few, made a tremendous contribution.

The spirit of Christmas was truly evident. The patients received many gifts and enjoyed caroling, harp music, and beautiful decorations before Christmas.

We want to be sure everyone knows how deeply grateful the patients and staff of Carmel Convalescent Hospital are for these wonderful gifts.

The words "thank you" seem most inadequate, but it is the only term in our vocabulary which will begin to express our sentiments.

THIS NEW HOME ON CARMEL POINT HAS ITS PROBLEMS

It has only 1200 square feet (beautifully organized, however). It offers very little gardening as most outside areas are brick surfaced or planted to permanent shrubs. It has brick steps leading up from the huge garage, which places the house high, for maximum view. The neighborhood's awfully quiet — no tourist traffic at all. It's built much better than it has to be to meet present codes (tho' this will guarantee low maintenance costs). It doesn't offer many extra rooms for guests—2 bedrooms, 2 baths. If you make one bedroom into a study, you could easily arrange to have no room at all for overnight guests! If ITS problems solve YOUR problems, may we show you this fine new home?

Is Sunset Commission Veering Towards City Operation Ideas For Cultural-Community Center?

Sunset commissioners, Monday night, appeared to be veering towards operation and development of Sunset Center by the city rather than by a non-profit corporation, although admitting that Arts, Inc. had consideration priority.

A report from one of the commissioners, Frank M. Falge, stressed that the city council and Sunset Commission "be realistic and proceed to operate Sunset Center on a completely business-like basis, rather than as a temporary holding operation."

Commissioners also received a revised lease from Arts Inc. and were informed by Malcolm Millard, head of this non-profit group, that the California Arts Commission, next week, will send a consultant to confer with Arts, Inc. directors on the feasibility of locating the organization's proposed $5 1/2 million cultural center on the Sunset Center site.

This lease proposes rental of the city-owned two-block cultural and community center site to Arts, Inc. for $1 a year for 50 years, all financing, development and operation to be undertaken by the non-profit organization under control of the city council at no cost to taxpayers.

The revised lease will be studied at the February meeting of the Sunset Commission. Chairman Peter Dyer requested that commissioners attend meetings between the state consultant and Arts, Inc. Mr. Millard stated that, unofficially, he had been told that the feasibility consultant would be associated with the architectural and planning firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill. Following the consultation, he added, Arts, Inc. would be able to make a definitive statement on the choice of Sunset Center for the proposed Arts, Inc. development. He said plans of this organization are not to engage in piecemeal development but to demolish existing buildings and replace them with new construction as soon as possible.

"Minimum time, with a serious number of 'ifs', to build a new center will take at least five years," the Falge report said.

In the light of this time schedule, Mr. Falge stated that "facts should replace opinions regarding the health of Sunset Center." The property appears to be in surprisingly good condition; it will cost very little to complete all safety recommendations made by Fire Chief Bob Baker; and "it is desirable to take another look at the desirability of moving the city hall to Sunset Center, either as a temporary or permanent measure," the Falge report stressed.

The problem raised by Arts, Inc.

that moving the city hall might interfere with fund solicitation was not valid, the Falge report contended, and added that "it is conceivable that a Carmel-loving citizen, resident or otherwise, may wish to provide the funds for a memorial auditorium of 12,000-15,000 seats. Another citizen might wish to provide funds for a fire-proof art gallery, so necessary in art-conscious Carmel."

In respect to paid parking on the north playground as a source of revenue to operate the cultural and community center, Mr. Falge recommended blacktopping the area and the painting of white lines and stall numbers, also a reduction in the $10 per month fee and allowing 24-hour use. So far no requests for the offstreet parking have been made.

Commissioner James Pruitt said "the Falge report deserves some thought." He then showed other commissioners a site plan he had prepared with existing buildings as a nucleus. A new and larger auditorium at the north end of the property with two-story underground parking for 300 cars and a new art museum at the south end of the property were future developments he proposed.

Both the Falge report and Mr. Pruitt's plan will be studied by the commission's committee on planning and a report prepared for the February meeting. A report on the Falge parking proposals will be made by the commission's finance committee.

Mr. Falge also reported on the auditorium lighting and stage. A new 32x32 square foot pine center stage has been installed. A new switchboard has been ordered. Four 4,000 hour lamps are being installed for the Monterey County Symphony. Eight new spotlights are also being installed.

Sunset Commissioners discussed steps to implement fire safety recommendations made by Fire Chief Baker for the bungalows at the south end of the Sunset Center site and heard him again declare that the fire department could not possibly save the main structure, including the auditorium, should an undetected fire occur.

How to cope effectively through prayer with problems of any kind will be explained in a free public lecture on Christian Science by Martin Broones, C.S.B., in Carmel Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Broones, a Christian Science lecturer from Beverly Hills, will speak in the church auditorium under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel. His lecture is titled "A Discovery That Meets the Needs of Today."

A native of New York City, he was educated at Columbia University and later studied musical composition at the Royal College of Music in London. Besides composing many well known sacred songs and musical scores for popular light operas, he organized and was director of the first music department in the motion picture industry for Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios. He subsequently became a producer of motion pictures and radio programs, acting also as manager and producer for his wife, Charlotte Greenwood.

fighting conditions would be "money ill-spent," he emphasized.

At the request of Mel Taylor, stage manager for the Bach Festival, Carmel Music Society and Monterey County Symphony, Sunset commissioners gave permission for doors to be cut through from the backstage area to ground floor dressing rooms, provided the city does not have to pay for the work. They also gave permission for a Candidate Night in the auditorium on April 7, and approved the annual Bicycle Rodeo to be sponsored by the Carmel Police Department and the Carmel Unified School District recreation department in February. Subject to city council approval, commissioners decided to allow the Harrison Memorial Library to continue to rent Room Two for use as a cataloging office.

subscription? Let's try to do something better." Commissioner George Willox replied to the plea of Mrs. Barbara Norberg, chairman of the arts commission, that this body requested a plywood shed because the commission's budget would not permit more expensive materials.

"Maybe you qualify for the poverty program," quipped Mr. Willox. He then pointed out that the plans submitted showed "nothing to indicate the shed will stand up." Because the walls were quarter-inch plywood moisture would seep inside, he stated. "Use three-quarter plywood," he advised.

"That will take three times the money," Mrs. Norberg complained but agreed to the proposal.

A compromise to what Commissioner Fred Keeble termed "such a jumble" was arrived at when his motion to approve the shed, provided it was covered by rustic pine bark slabs, was passed.

"I will donate one month's salary of my planning commission pay," Mr. Willox offered.

"That won't do much good," replied Mrs. Norberg.

City attorney William B. Burleigh told commissioners that he hoped for a settlement, out of court, on the legal suit about the closing of Red Eagle Alley. Betty Watt Casey has brought suit against the city, also Wells Fargo Bank, James Doud, Mrs. Mary Gould and Barnet Segal, owners of land bordering the alley which runs from San Carlos to Mission streets south of Ocean Avenue. Owner of beauty and barbershop premises, she objects to the alley being closed. Mr. Burleigh indicated that it probably will be reopened to both pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

Oscar Lincoln

Funeral services for Oscar C. Lincoln, who died Tuesday in Long Beach after a long period of failing health, will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Paul Funeral Chapel, Pacific Grove, with Carmel Lodge No. 680, F.&A.M., officiating. Burial will follow at Cemetery el Encinal, Monterey.

Mr. Lincoln, a landscape architect, and his wife, Eloise, were residents of Carmel for some 30 years before moving to Southern California recently.

He was a native of Wayne County, Illinois, where he was born April 12, 1887.

The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.
